Presentation – Chevron Energy Solutions – Sharon Gitles Uslan, Senior Mgr, Midwest Region
Long Range Planning Chairman Don Griffin introduces Sharon Uslan of Chevron Energy Solutions who previously made a presentation to the LRP Committee on a no cost assessment to Ogle County. Uslan states the whole idea of a partnership with local governments is to improve infrastructure and facilities while improving those assets and building relationships with the community. This partnership differs from the traditional low bid approach as this is a start to finish partnership. Uslan states Chevron is responsible for the design and implementation until the end. Chevron can help with the Capital Improvement Plan which includes infrastructure, facilities modernization, safety and security, deferred maintenance and reliability and operational performance. All of the projects implemented by Chevron are guaranteed; which includes price, quality and savings. Uslan states Chevron will come through the county facilities and come up with a financial solution for the recommendations. We will help seek grants, rebates and incentives on behalf of the county. The county would be taking a proactive approach for future costs of inflation by spreading the work over a period of time.

Uslan reviews some of the work they provided to the Oregon Community Unit School District #220 and Superintendant Tom Mahoney is available for any questions. Uslan states Chevron is here as a resource to the county and provide a no cost assessment.

Petrizzo asks how the Chevron approach meshes with the low bid approach in the State of Illinois. Uslan states through the Local Government Energy Conservation Act the county will put out an RFP for the project(s) from companies like Chevron.

Griffin asks OCUSD #220 Superintendent Tom Mahoney to speak on behalf of OCUSD #220 and his experience with Chevron. Mahoney states the ultimate benefit to the school district was when the construction project got behind; Chevron was able to get the contractors to work longer hours and on weekends. The school district under the traditional process would not be able to afford the overages as it would be extensive. This process was very beneficial to the school district; we were able to get three buildings geo-thermal cooled and heated within one summer. It was a tremendous benefit to the school board that Chevron was ultimately responsible to be sure the job was done right, on-time and took care of the problems that they ran into.

Griffin states we are looking into a consensus from the board to move forward with the no cost assessment with Chevron. Chairman Gouker asks if there is anyone who thinks we should not go in this direction. Griffin states once we receive the assessment an RFP can be developed and we can go forward from there.

Saunders asks what is the ultimate goal we looking for another building project, replacing maintenance people or maintenance contracts? What are you expecting to accomplish from the findings? Griffin states from the Long Range Planning prospective we are looking at repairs to keep our buildings operational as well as technology wise what to do with the buildings. We are trying to get an overall picture in a responsible way, states Griffin.

Griffin states this is a learning process for all of us and this is the best thing we have looked at, it takes the risk out of the picture.

Kenney asks Mahoney if the RFP bids were received by his office. Mahoney states yes, the bids were sent to the District Office and Chevron had to bid just like the other companies and we had the right to decide.

Chairman Gouker asks the board if they would like to proceed with Chevron for a no cost assessment of county facilities. There were no other questions and Chairman Gouker gave Griffin the go ahead.

Corrections Roof Replacement Update –
Griffin introduces Scott Gering from Garland Roofing to give an update on the Corrections Roof Replacement. Gering thanks the board for the opportunity to work on this project. Garland Roofing is the manufacturer of the membrane to be used and McDermaid Roofing will be the contractor installing the product, says Gering. The project is set to begin on September 2nd and should take approximately two weeks to complete, weather permitting.

Beitel states last year was her first year at the fair and there were approximately 3,500 people who came through the tent. We didn’t have as many people this year. Beitel along with Brian VanVickle and Eric Morrow would like to see an Ogle County Government Tent at the fair with representatives from the County Board and County offices. Executive:

- Additional Funds for Examination of Sheriff Administrative Tow Fee Fund - R-2014-0804

  Chairman Gouker presents and makes the motion to approve R-2014-0804 and Oltmanns seconds. Chairman Gouker says this is to request additional funds for the Examination of the Sheriff Administrative Tow Fee Fund. This type of an examination is like peeling an onion, with different layers there are additional costs. Chairman Gouker states there was an incorrect statement in the newspaper in regards to a preliminary report; there is no preliminary report as they are currently working on a draft. The auditor is asking for up to an additional $7,500 as the financial records turned over are disorganized and not complete enough to obtain a clear and thorough opinion, states Chairman Gouker. If they get their questions answered and have only used $1,500, they will stop. However, if they uncover more questions there may be a need to continue and there is a possibility of requesting more funds. We need to finish the process we have started.

  Meyers goes on record to say he thought Sikich was going to present a report for the original $7,500; this is changing the rules of game after the game has started. Meyers is all for the audit. Chairman Gouker states for the initial fee they would assess the records provided and organize them the best that they could. Meyers states he talked to a towing company and was able to get information as to what they turned in.

  Hopkins says if the auditors haven’t found something by now, I don’t think we need to spend anymore money.

  Colbert asks if there is a possibility that the auditors have found something and need the additional money to continue their examination.

  Typer states the County Board had a discussion a few months ago and we set forth the events that are in motion. We owe it to the taxpayers that we represent and to find out what is going on and what did happen to the money.

  Meyers states he’s not saying to stop the examination; he is objecting to the request for the additional funds after they accepted the contract. Chairman Gouker states they are now looking into information that is different than they originally thought. Meyers states they originally said we would get an answer for the $7,500.

  Heuer asks Chairman Gouker during his discussions with Sikich and without a preliminary report, how much information have they looked at. Chairman Gouker states they have looked at all of the records from the Sheriff’s Office for the tow fund. There was a banker’s box of receipts and files and that is how they started. Heuer asks approximately how many hours do they have into this examination? Chairman Gouker states he knows they were on site for at least three full days; this does not include any time once they took this information back to their office in Naperville.

  Saunders remembers the previous discussion regarding the examination differently than Meyers. They were to provide a basic audit and if all of the records were not as they expected, there would be additional fees. They may have to find some of these records in other locations, other than the Sheriff’s Office.
